

Progest-Avail™

Ultra-Absorbed Serum

WOMEN'S HEALTH*

Progesterone is a hormone naturally produced in the body. Its name is derived from the Latin term “pro gestationem,” meaning “promoting gestation” (promoting pregnancy). Progest-Avail™ may help support hormonal balance as a topical serum. Unlike oral progesterone, Progest-Avail™ does not need to be metabolized by the digestive tract or liver.

Progest-Avail™ is a topical progesterone serum that provides 20 mg of bioidentical progesterone in each 1 mL application. Progest-Avail™ is formulated to be used by women of reproductive age and menopausal and postmenopausal women. The serum can be applied to smooth skin areas of the body.

Progest-Avail™ is free of parabens, mineral oil, and petroleum. The progesterone in this product is carried in caprylic/capric triglyceride (from coconut), and it contains vitamin E as a preservative. Since progesterone is fat-soluble, ultra-micronized delivery may promote enhanced progesterone absorption.

Progest-Avail™ also contains a natural sugar-based complex that may increase progesterone solubility and facilitate deeper and faster penetration through the skin. While typical cream-based topical progesterone claims a potency for about 60 days after manufacturing, Designs for Health's Progest-Avail™ lipid-based system has been shown to maintain potency for up to two years.
